SUPPORTING EMOTIONAL HEALTH & BUILDING RESILIENCE

Life can be unpredictable and challenging at times. Sometimes we will fail, be let down, be disappointed, or find things hard to do.

In a world that can sometimes feel worrying and out of their control, we need to give children skills to feel resilient to life's knocks, to pick themselves up and carry on.

Children need to learn to trust that they can cope with life's challenges. Building your child's self esteem, and giving them faith that they can cope when things don't go to plan, is essential.

This workshop will introduce ways to build confidence, self-esteem and resilience, which will allow children to regulate their emotions and become more independent
