Dear Parents/Carers,

Club Room Weekly Information – w/b 16.11.26

Anti-Bullying Week

This week across the country is Anti-Bullying Week. We will be completing lots of different activities over the week, including our odd socks Monday!

PTA Non-Uniform Day

Friday 20 November the school will be having a non-uniform day courtesy of the amazing PTA.

We kindly ask that in exchange for this, some chocolate is brought in for the tombola!

Highlights

We are particularly proud of the amazing phonics work completed by our KS1 pupils. Their blending skills have been amazing!

Weekly Focus on one of our school rules

Staff and children had some amazing discussions around last week's value. This week, we will be focussing on one very important school rule, and that is 'ready'. We want the pupils to understand why being ready is important, and how they can best prepare themselves so that they are ready for learning or anything else they can prepare for.

Zones of Regulation

We will be looking at the blue zone this week. As we get into the colder and darker months, it is common for there to be more feelings of blue, however we are going to have some conversations and complete activities based upon how we can make those feelings supported and bring the positive out in every situation possible.

Learning

Our KS1 children will focus on handwriting this week. Strengthening their fine motor skills, practising letter formation and many other learning opportunities that can support the pupils handwriting.

Our KS2 children will be continuing their adventure story, dissecting all the features that creates amazing descriptive writing pieces.

Have a lovely week.
